

Starting Health: 12 + your Toughness modifier

Weapon Proficiencies: All melee weapons that aren't Two-Handed, Light ranged weapons

Armor Proficiencies: Light Armor, Medium Armor, Shields

Health gained on level-up: 4 + your Toughness modifier

Starting Equipment: Basic Clothes, Light or Medium armor (your choice), 2 weapons of your choice that you're proficient with (you may replace 1 weapon with a shield), 5 Gold

Abstracta: At level 1, you must choose between the four types of Abstracta: Sanctum, Malum, Primal, and Null. The type of Abstracta you choose will affect your main strengths, as well as what Abstract Powers are made available to you.

Abstract Powers: Starting at level 1, you gain access to your choice of Abstract Powers (AP for short), special abilities granted by your Abstracta. These Powers come in varying levels, from 0 to 5. You can use one Abstract Power each turn.

Actions used for the purpose of Level 0 Powers count against the number of attacks you can perform on that turn (though this is not the case for Powers of any other level). Otherwise, Level 0 Powers can be used practically infinitely, with some simply being passive effects rather than ones that need to be specifically activated. However, Powers from any other level can only be used a limited amount of times. Specifically, using an Abstract Power of a specific level reduces the number of times you can use any Abstract Power of that level until you take a long rest, at which point all Abstract Power uses are reset. For example, using a Level 1 AP at level 2 reduces the number of times you can use any level 1 AP from 3 to 2, which is undone after finishing a long rest. For more information, see the following chart on how many uses each AP level has per level.

AP Uses/Level	Power LV 1	Power LV 2	Power LV 3	Power LV 4	Power LV 5
Nascent LV 1	2	0	0	0	0
Nascent LV 2	3	0	0	0	0
Nascent LV 3	3	1	0	0	0
Nascent LV 4	3	2	0	0	0
Nascent LV 5	3	2	1	0	0

At level 1, you know two level 0 Powers and one level 1 Power. As you level up, you are able to have more Powers available to you at any given time. You may choose which Powers you gain, though you must meet the prerequisites for any you choose. Additionally, once per level up, you may replace one Power you know with another one that you meet the prerequisites for. The full list of Abstract Powers is detailed at the end of the class description. The following chart details how many distinct Abstract Powers one may know per level.

Powers Known/Level	Power LV 0	Power LV 1	Power LV 2	Power LV 3	Power LV 4	Power LV 5
Nascent LV 1	2	1	0	0	0	0
Nascent LV 2	2	2	0	0	0	0
Nascent LV 3	2	2	1	0	0	0
Nascent LV 4	3	2	1	0	0	0
Nascent LV 5	3	3	2	1	0	0

If an Abstract Power calls for a check made to resist or end its effects, the DC is 8 + your AP bonus + your Willpower modifier. Additionally, if your Abstract Power requires an AP attack roll, add your AP bonus and Willpower modifier to the result of your d20 roll. Your AP bonus is determined by your level, as detailed below.

Nascent Level	AP bonus
1-2	+2
3-4	+3
5	+4

Abstract Potential: At level 1, you gain one class feature, determined by which type of Abstracta you've chosen:

Aura of Positivity (Sanctum): The positive energy within you permeates the space around you. Allies within 15 feet of you (besides you) have a +1 bonus against all Willpower-Based checks.

Breaking Point (Malum): The negativity that empowers you stokes your rage when you're vulnerable. You gain a +2 bonus to your attack rolls while you're at half your maximum HP or less.

Primal Combat (Primal): You feel most comfortable fighting with your fists, without any armor weighing you down. Your fists deal 1d6+2+STR blunt damage, and have Block (0) and Versatile (Slashing). Additionally, you always count as having Weapon Resistance (2), which does not stack with armor.

Anti-Magic (Null): Your body becomes resistant to hostile magic. You gain a +1 bonus to ALL checks made to resist or end magical effects.

Skill Increase: At level 2, you gain an additional 2 skill points to allocate into the skills of your choice.

Manifest: Starting at level 3, you gain the ability to cause your Abstracta to appear within 30 feet of you in a square of your choosing as an action. Your Abstracta is partly transparent when manifested, it cannot be attacked, and can enter (but not end your turn in) unwilling creatures' squares (and vice versa). Once on each of your turns, you may move your Abstracta up to 30 feet (horizontally or vertically, as your Abstracta can float) without using an action, though it will disappear and reappear within 5 feet of you if you are ever further than 60 feet away from it.

While you have your Abstracta manifested, you may use your Abstract Powers as if you were where your Abstracta is. Your Abstracta otherwise cannot interact with anything physically. If you become unconscious, your Abstracta disappears. You may also make your Abstracta disappear via an action on your turn.

Stat Increase: At level 4, you gain an additional 2 stat points to allocate into the stats of your choice. Each stat point must be allocated into a different stat.

Extra Attack: Starting at level 4, you may attack twice per turn, rather than once.

Feat Points: At level 5, you gain an additional 2 Feat Points you can use to gain new feats.

Abstract Powers

Level 0

Aura Bond (Any): As an action, you use abstract energy to bond two objects together for up to 10 minutes, or until you use this Power again. This bond can hold up to 500 pounds of weight, and can be forcibly broken via a successful Athletics check.

Aura Mirage (Any): As an action, you use your abstract power to create a visual illusion that lasts for up to one minute, or until you use this Power again. This illusion can be of an object or creature, no greater than 5 feet in any dimension. It is entirely intangible, cannot produce sound, and cannot move. If a creature attempts to interact with this illusion, they will find themselves unable to do so, and the illusion will become invisible for them.

Aura Projectile (Any): As an action, you unleash a color-coded projectile that emanates from either your open hand or a weapon you're holding. Make a ranged AP attack roll against a creature within 60 feet of you. This deals 1d8 + your AP bonus + your Willpower modifier damage. The damage this deals is either radiant (for Sanctum or Primal Nascents) or rotting (for Malum or Null Nascents).

Aura Wisp (Any): As an action, you create a wisp of light of your Nascent's color at a point you can see within 30 feet of you. This wisp emanates bright light up to 20 feet, and dim light an additional 20 feet. You may move this wisp up to 30 feet (horizontally or vertically) once per turn without using an action, though you cannot control it if you are more than 60 feet away from it. This wisp lasts for one minute, or until you use this Power again.

Avenging Strike (Sanctum): As an action, you channel your positive energy into a virtuous strike. Perform an attack with a melee weapon you're wielding (this counts as part of the action).

The attack deals an additional 1d6 radiant damage. If the target of the attack has damaged an allied creature since the start of last round (or the start of combat, if it's the first round), it deals an additional 1d12 radiant damage instead.

Kindly Intervention (Sanctum): Once per round, when an allied creature within 5 feet of you is attacked, you may choose to give the ally a +3 bonus to the Blocking or Dodge check, as a shadow of your Abstracta briefly comes to their aid.

Baleful Acid (Malum): As an action, you materialize acid composed of concentrated negativity and force it onto a creature within 30 feet of you. Said creature must succeed on a Resilience check or take 1d8 + your Willpower modifier acid damage and lose the ability to regain hit points until the end of its next turn.

Malice Strike (Malum): As an action, you channel your negative energy into a malevolent strike. Perform an attack with a melee weapon you're wielding (this counts as part of the action). The attack deals an additional 1d6 rotting damage. If the target of the attack has damaged you since the start of last round (or the start of combat, if it's the first round), it deals an additional 1d12 rotting damage instead.

Primal Whisper (Primal): You are able to passively understand and speak to Beasts. This communication does not go further than basic concepts or ideas (such as danger, uncertainty, hostility, or food), and you have no inherent control over animals you communicate with in this way.

Spectral Claws (Primal): As an action, you create claws made of abstract energy that lash out at all creatures within a 5 foot radius of you. Such creatures must succeed on a Blocking or Dodge check or take 1d6 slashing damage. This counts as having the Bleed (1d6) effect.

Phase (Null): You know how to alter your own physicality to a limited extent, reducing both your opacity and your solidity. As an action, until the end of your turn, you gain the ability to move through unwilling creatures' spaces as if they were magical difficult terrain. If you end your turn in another creature's space, you take 1d6 true damage and reappear in the nearest unoccupied space.

Void Ward (Null): As an action, you become encased in a grayish aura that lashes out against those that do you harm. Until the start of your next turn, creatures within 5 feet of you that damage you with an attack take 1d6 rotting damage. If the attack is a critical hit and/or reduces you to 0 hit points, they take 1d12 rotting damage instead.

Level 1

Aura Blast (Any): As an action, you create a blast of concentrated abstract energy in a 15 foot cone, extending outwards from you. Creatures within this cone must succeed on a Resilience check, taking 2d6 + your Willpower modifier blunt damage and being pushed up to 15 feet away from you on a failed check, or taking half damage and not being pushed on a successful one.

Aura Construct (Any): You shape your abstract energy in order to create a physical object made entirely out of your color-coded energy. This object cannot be longer than 5 feet in any dimension, must have a base cost of 10 Gold or less, and must be non-magical. This object cannot be consumed for the purpose of casting spells or performing any sort of magical ritual. If the object is consumable, such as a food or beverage, it provides no sustenance. The object otherwise has the exact same properties as its mundane counterpart, and lasts for one hour.

Aura Pull (Any): As an action, you pull a creature towards you with your aura powers. A creature within 20 feet of you must make a Resilience check, taking 2d6 + your willpower modifier blunt damage and being pulled to within 5 feet of you on a failed check, or taking half as much damage and not being pulled on a successful one. Additionally, if you make an attack roll against a creature immediately after using this power to pull the creature towards you, you gain a +2 bonus to the attack and damage rolls.

Guiding Hand (Sanctum): As an action, you are able to share your positive energy with your allies, bolstering their overall effectiveness. When you use this Power, you give a single ally within 30 feet of you (besides yourself) a +1d4 bonus to all attack rolls and skill checks they make for the next minute.

Righteous Shield (Sanctum): As an action, you protect an ally within 30 feet of you (not including yourself) with a protective aura. For the next minute, the ally you choose has two points of Weapon Resistance, which stacks with other sources of Weapon Resistance, as well as a +1 bonus to Blocking and Dodge checks. This effect does not stack with itself.

Baleful Lightning (Malum): As an action, you cause your abstract energy to take the form of crackling, painful electricity, which surges towards a creature within 30 feet of you. Said creature must succeed on a Blocking or Dodge check or take 1d8 + your AP bonus + your Willpower modifier lightning damage and become stunned until the end of its next turn.

Sabotage (Malum): As an action, you use your negative energy to hamper a creature within 30 feet of you. Said creature must succeed on a Purity check or receive a -1d4 penalty to all attack rolls and skill checks it makes for the next minute.

Natural Climber (Primal): As an action, you gain the ability to cling to walls as if you were some kind of animal. For the next ten minutes, you can climb on surfaces without having to make an Athletics check, and don't count climbing surfaces as difficult terrain.

Nurture (Primal): As an action, you breathe a small amount of life within a creature of your choice within 30 feet of you. The creature regains 1d4 + your AP bonus + your Willpower modifier HP.

Disrupt (Null): As an action, you use your Abstract Powers to interfere with others' magic. Choose a target within 30 feet of you. That target must make a Purity check, taking 2d8 rotting damage on a failed check, or half as much on a successful one. A target that fails also loses concentration on any spell they were concentrating on.

Void Shield (Null): You know how to use your power over null to reduce harm dealt to you. Once per round, when you take damage, you may choose to use your attack of opportunity to reduce the damage by 1d6 + your Willpower modifier (to a minimum of 0 and before factoring in resistances or vulnerabilities).

Level 2

Aura Step (Any): As an action, you disappear briefly before reappearing in an empty space of your choice within 30 feet of you that you can see. Additionally, you may choose to unleash a burst of abstract energy either before or after you teleport (or not to do so at all). Those within 10 feet of you when this occurs must succeed on a Resilience check or take 2d6 radiant damage (if you're a Sanctum or Primal Nascent) or rotting damage (if you're a Malum or Null Nascent).

Aura Weapon (Any): As an action, you create a physical weapon out of your abstract energy, which appears in an empty hand of your choice and lasts for the next minute. This is a one-handed weapon with Block (1) that deals 2d6 + your AP bonus + your Willpower modifier of your choice of blunt, slashing, or piercing damage (you choose when you use this Power). You may use your AP attack roll modifiers instead of your Melee Weapon check modifiers if they're higher. Either way, you also gain a +1 bonus to attack rolls made with this weapon. If you're a Primal Nascent, you may instead create an armguard or something similar on your arms, in which case your attacks with this weapon still count as fist attacks and thus keep the Versatile (Slashing) property.

Spear of Justice (Sanctum): As an action, you create and launch a spear-like projectile that seeks out those that have done you and your allies harm. The spear travels in a 30 foot long, 5 foot wide line, extending outwards from you. Creatures within this line must succeed on a Blocking or Dodge check or take 3d6 + your AP bonus + your Willpower modifier piercing damage. This has the Anti-Armor (2) and Bleed (1d4) properties. Creatures that have damaged you or an ally since the start of the last round (or the start of combat, if it's the first round) receive a -4 penalty to their check to resist this.

Wave of Hope (Sanctum): As an action, you unleash a surge of positive energy, which allows those it touches to subdue the effects of harmful stimuli. You and all allies within 30 feet of you may immediately reroll to end any harmful lingering effects, such as a status condition. If there would normally be a downside to failing to end the harmful effect (such as taking damage), this does not occur, even if you or one of your allies fail to end the effect.

Bloodbath (Malum): Once per round, after dealing damage to a creature, you may use your abstract energy to force the creature's blood out of its body in a violent fashion. The creature must make a Purity check, taking 3d8 + your AP bonus + your Willpower modifier true damage on a failed check, or half as much on a successful one. This counts as a Bleed effect. Creatures that fail must also immediately roll to resist Anemia (see Diseases).

Burning Aggression (Malum): As an action, you concentrate your negative energy into a ball of fire larger than your head, and throw it at a creature within 60 feet of you. Make an AP attack roll. This attack deals 3d8 + your AP bonus + your Willpower modifier fire damage. After the attack is resolved, the fireball explodes. All creatures within 10 feet of where the fireball was thrown, including the target of the original attack, must succeed on a Blocking or Dodge check or take 1d8 fire damage.

Nourishing Slash (Primal): As an action, you slash at your opponent with natural energy that steals the target's life force. Make an AP attack roll with a fist against a target within 5 feet of you. This attack deals 3d8 + your AP bonus + your Willpower modifier slashing damage. This has the Anti-Armor (2) and Bleed (1d8) properties. If this power reduces the target to 0 HP, you regain 1d6 + your AP bonus + your Willpower modifier hit points.